James Ralford J. Auld, Clk.

1. John Smith, Little River (and Thicketty Cr.) had the following sons: Jasper, Charles, William, Joseph and probably James. (Anson Co. Deeds passim).
2. Anthony Hutchins, born in New Jersey, a stevedore-Loyalist, seeing that war was inevitable, about 1770, went to the Natchez Dist. (Miss.) then British territory, where his brother, Thomas, was a successful surveyor, and obtained large land grants there. (Hist. of Miss. by Dunbar Rowland, Vol. 1 - 266)
3. As James Coleman, bro. of John, married Mourning Terry, the original deed book was checked to be sure that it is John and not James in this record. Both seem to have married a Mourning.
4. James Terry married Elizabeth, dau. of Richard Leak. Their sons, John and Richard Leak, who were named in Richard Leak's will (Orange Co. N.C.), died in Chester Co. S. C. in 1804 and 1801. (Chester Co. S. C. Probate Rec. File 66-1038, 1030)
5. The first mention yet discovered of "William Terry, Jr." is in a deed dated 14 Apr. 1759 (Bk 5-357), and there is nothing to contradict his being the William Terry, east of the Peedee, who was in Anson as early as Jan. 1751, and came to be called William Terry Jr. to be distinguished from William Terry of Savannah Cr. He was certainly married by 1751 for his oldest son, Mathew, was a "chain-carrier" in 1769 and had a grant issued to him in 1772. Besides, the will of his father-in-law, Mathew Ralford, Sr. of Cumberland Co, written 21 July 1752, says: "to my dau. Anne one shilling sterling to be paid within one year, together with what she has heretofore received "which shows that before that date she was married at which time she received her portion. Only the unmarried daus. of Mathew Ralford received anything more than one shilling in his will, and none of the sons-in-law were named. William Terry Jr's son, Champness, suggests that he was probably of the Southside Virginia Terrys and connected with those of Louisa Co. James Terry who apparently came to Anson with him may have been a brother. William Terry, of Savannah Cr., was the son of James and Margaret Terry, of Edge-

5. 8 Jany. 1780, the above John Smith, as of Northampton County (N.C.) bou. 475 a in sw part of Wayne County (Wayne Co. D.B. 1-2) and from 1792 to 1807 was guardian of the five children of Andrew Bass III, decd., and his wife, Christian — who m. (2) William Bennett, also of Wayne Co. (Wayne Co. Wills 1793-1807). John Smith sold this tract and others he had acquired in Wayne Co. in 1794 and bought land in Cumberland Co. In 1797, William Bennett, "of Wayne Co.", bou. land adj. John Smith in Cumberland. John Smith and Alexander Scull witnessing the deed. It is not clear whether either of these families lived in Cumberland. However, Ann Bass, the second step-dau. of Wm. Bennett, married John Holton of Cumberland, prob. by 1799. In 1799 William Bennett sold the tract he had bought in Cumberland to John Smith and they are both recorded in the deed as "of Wayne Co.". Uriah Bass and John Holton were witnesses to this transfer. In 1807 there was a final settlement of the estate of Andrew Bass III, a jury dividing the land and personal property among the heirs; Eliz. Bass, Ann Holton, Uriah Bass, Thos. Alexander Bass, Sally Thompson and their mother, Christian Bennett, wife of Wm. Bennett. In 1808, John Smith made gift deeds of the adj. tracts he and William Bennett had owned in Cumberland to his son, William Smith, and Wilson Cooper, husband of his dau. Mary., and in 1812 he sells the remainder of his holdings in Cumberland, as of Anson County. His first wife had evidently died and he had re-married.

Alexander Scull was a private in the N. C. Continental Line from the Hillsborough District and in the 1790 census was a single man at the head of a household in Wayne County. In 1794, he bou. 200 acres in Robeson County as "of Robeson" and in 1799 he bou. a tract in Cumberland on Rockfish Cr. near the Robeson line, where he made his home. In 1810 Census he is married, both wife and self over 45, and another male under 16. If this last was a son, he died, for by his will (Bk "A" p. 242), dated 15 Aug. 1814; prob. Dec. Ct. 1817, Alex. Scull left personal property and his home place to his wife, Mourning, which after her death was to go to Lewis Bennett, son of William and Biddy Bennett; the 200a tract in Robeson to William Bennett, son of William and Biddy Bennett; to Biddy Bennett, in trust, one bed and furniture, to give to which daughter she pleases, of those she had by William Bennett; to Nancy, Bidy, Polly and Edna Bennett, each a heifer; to William Smith 60 acres in Robeson; to Wm. Smith and Wilson Cooper the rest of cows and a mare; to Sarah Smith, a bed and furniture; the pork to be sold and the proceeds div. bet. Daniel and John Smith, sons of John Smith now living in Anson Co., to Wm. Bennett, son of William and Biddy Bennett, his shot-gun; wife, Mourning, and William Smith, exrs. Wm. Smith relinq. right as exr. and Mourning Scull qualified. (Cumb. Co. D.B. 14-310; 16-354; 25-132-3; 26-494; 27-230; Bladen Co. D.B. 13-361; Robeson Co. D.B. "E"-152)

From the above, it would seem that Alexander Scull was the brother (or possibly the father) of the first wife of John Smith and of Christian, whom he called "Bidy" (or Biddy), a nickname, who married (1) Andrew Bass III, (2) William Bennett.

6. Thomas Terry's estate was administered in 1835-6-7 in Autauga County, Alabama, and the sons of Eli Terry, gr-son of William and Mary (Raiford) Terry, were buyers at sale of part of estate. Any relationship bet. these two Terry families does not appear in the records, except the apparent Raiford descent of Thos. Terry's wife, Mary P., through the Tindalls.

7. In an altercation, Mumford DeJarnett struck a man with the butt of his loaded pistol and it was discharged, fatally wounding him. (The Messenger and Intelligence, Wadesboro, N. C. Aug. 27, 1937; article "Capt. Paddy Boggan and the Olden Times" by Kate Shepherd Bennett (Mrs. R. T.).

 Wit: Js. Pickett Ack. April Court 1774.
 James Raiford J. Auld, Clk.

1. John Smith, Little River (and Thicketty Cr.) had the following sons: Jasper, Charles, William, Joseph and probably James. (Anson Co. Deeds passim).
2. Anthony Hutchins, born in New Jersey, a staunch Loyalist, seeing that war was inevitable, about 1770, went to the Natchez Dist. (Miss.) then British territory, where his brother, Thomas, was a successful surveyor, and obtained large land grants there. (Hist. of Miss. by Dunbar Rowland, Vol. 1 - 266)
3. As James Coleman, bro. of John, married Mourning Terry, the original deed book was checked to be sure that it is John and not James in this record. Both seem to have married a Mourning.
4. James Terry married Elizabeth, dau. of Richard Leak. Their sons, John and Richard Leak, who were named in Richard Leak's will (Orange Co. N.C.), died in Chester Co. S. C. in 1804 and 1801. (Chester Co. S. C. Probate Rec. File 66-1038, 1030)
5. The first mention yet discovered of "William Terry, Jr." is in a deed dated 14 Apr. 1759 (Bk 5-357), and there is nothing to contradict his being the William Terry, east of the Peedee, who was in Anson as early as Jany. 1751, and came to be called William Terry Jr. to be distinguished from William Terry of Savannah Cr. He was certainly married by 1751 for his oldest son, Mathew, was a "chain-carrier" in 1769 and had a grant issued to him in 1772. Besides, the will of his father-in-law, Mathew Raiford, Sr. of Cumberland Co, written 21 July 1752, says: "to my dau. Anne one shilling sterling to be paid within one year, together with what she has heretofore received" which shows that before that date she was married at which time she received her portion. Only the unmarried daus. of Mathew Raiford received anything more than one shilling in his will, and none of the sons-in-law were named. William Terry Jr.'s son, Champness, suggests that he was probably of the Southside Virginia Terrys and connected with those of Louisa Co. James Terry who apparently came to Anson with him may have been a brother. William Terry, of Savannah Cr., was the son of James and Margaret Terry, of Edge-
