THE ROYAL ANCESTRY OF GEORGE WASHINGTON PARKE CUSTIS

by MILTON RUBINCAM*

GEORGE WASHINGTON PARKE CUSTIS is chiefly remembered as the cultured master of Arlington, the adopted son and ardent admirer of President George Washington, and the father-in-law of General Robert E. Lee. In addition to these modest claims to distinction, however, Custis possessed unusual genealogical connections. The kinship of the Custises of Virginia to the noble Custis family of Belgium and the Netherlands has been discussed by this writer in previous articles.¹ But it is not generally realized that through his mother, Eleanor (Calvert) Custis, the whole panorama of European history is reflected in his direct ancestry. In his veins flowed the blood of the proudest ruling houses of a bygone era — Stuart, Tudor, Plantagenet, Bourbon, Valois, Guise, Medici, Sforza, Visconti, Savoy, Oldenburg, Hohenzollern, and Habsburg. Americans claiming royal descent generally have to go back to the fourteenth or fifteenth centuries to find their last kingly forebear, but G. W. P. Custis was born less than a century after the death of his last progenitor to occupy a throne. The line of descent is as follows:

I. His Majesty, King Charles II, was born at St. James's Palace, May 29, 1630. After the execution of his father, Charles I, he was proclaimed in Scotland and in some parts of Ireland King of England, Scotland, France² and Ireland, Defender of the Faith. He was in exile, however, until the Restoration, being proclaimed King in Westminster Hall on May 8, 1660. He returned to London, May 29, 1660, and was crowned April 23, 1661. He died at Whitehall, February 6, 1684/5. By his wife, whom he married May 31, 1661, Catherine of Braganza (November 25, 1638-December 31, 1705), daughter of King John IV, of Portugal, and sister of Kings Alfonso VI and Pedro II,³ he had no issue. He was a firm believer in large families, however, as his fifteen children by five mistresses amply demonstrate. From Charles II descend in the direct male line (through these irregular channels) the present Dukes of Buccleuch and Queensberry, Grafton, St. Albans, and Richmond and Lennox. The lady who shared with King Charles the honor of being a Custis forebear was Barbara (1641-October 9, 1709), daughter of William Villiers, 2nd Viscount Grandison, and wife of Roger Palmer, Earl of Castlemaine. She was created Countess of Southampton and Duchess of Cleveland in 1670.

(Pages 606-620, this volume.)

²The meaningless claim to the French throne was first made in the reign of Edward III (1327-1377), and was discontinued in 1801 by King George III.

II. Charlotte Fitzroy, daughter of King Charles II and Lady Castlemaine, is said to have been born September 5, 1664. She died February 17, 1717/8. On February 6, 1676/7, she married Sir Edward Henry Lee, 5th Baronet, who, having been affianced to Charlotte before 1674, was created 1st Earl of Lichfield, June 5, 1674, at the advanced age of nine years. Lady Lichfield was noted for her beauty.

III. Lady Charlotte Lee, daughter of the above, was born March 13, 1678, and died January 21, 1721. On January 2, 1698/9, she married Benedict Leonard Calvert, 4th Lord Baltimore, who was born March 21, 1679, and died April 16, 1715. They were divorced in 1705. His Lordship's great-grandfather, Sir George Calvert (1578/9-1632), was knighted by King James I in 1617, became first Baron Baltimore, of Baltimore, county Longford, in the Peerage of Ireland, in 1621, and, being much interested in England's colonial enterprises, founded a small settlement, Avalon, in Newfoundland. His son, Cecilius, 2nd Baron Baltimore, received a charter for the Province of Maryland (1632), just after the death of his father, who was the real founder of the province. He married Anne, daughter of Sir Thomas Arundell, 1st Lord Arundell of Wardour, who was descended, through his grandmother, from the illustrious House of Howard, Dukes of Norfolk. Their son, Charles, 3rd Lord Baltimore, Governor of Maryland from 1661 to 1675, succeeded his father in the latter year as proprietor of the province. He was a British major general. By his fourth wife, the widow Jane (Lowe) Sewell, he was the father of the 4th Baron, who married Lady Charlotte Lee.

³On the occasion of King Pedro's marriage at Heidelberg (1687), the nuptial oration was delivered by Prof. Dr. Johannes Laurentius Crollius, whose great-great-grandnephew, Jacob Revercomb, was the founder of that Virginia family. (See Rubincam, "Origin of the Revercombs of Virginia," VMHB, LXIII [1955], 76-83.) (Genealogia of Virginia Families (Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc., 1981), Vol. V, 77-84.)

IV. Charles Calvert, 5th Lord Baltimore, son of the above, was born September 29, 1699, and died April 24, 1751. He married Mary Janssen and had a number of children, including Frederick (1732-1771), 6th and last Lord Baltimore, who had no issue by his wife, Lady Diana Egerton, but who fathered several illegitimate children; and Caroline, wife of Sir Robert Eden, 1st Baronet, of Maryland, Governor of the Province 1768-1776. From them descends, in the fifth generation, Sir Anthony Eden, K.G., the British Prime Minister.

V. Benedict Swingate, illegitimate son of Charles, 5th Lord Baltimore, by a woman whose identity was never disclosed,⁴ was born ca. 1724, and assumed the name of Calvert. His paternity was acknowledged by the 5th Baron Baltimore. He was appointed Collector of Customs at Patuxent in 1744 and became a Member of the Provincial Council of Maryland in 1745. He died at his estate, "Mt. Airy," in Prince George's County, Maryland, January 9, 1788. On April 21, 1748, he married Elizabeth, daughter of Charles Calvert, Governor of Maryland, who was presumably a son of Charles, 3rd Lord Baltimore. One of their children, George Calvert (1768-1838), married Rosalie Eugenia Stier, and had, among others, Caroline Maria, wife of Thomas Willing Morris, of Philadelphia; George Henry, poet and essayist, and Mayor of Newport, R. I.; and Charles Benedict Calvert, of Prince George's County, Maryland, founder of the first agricultural research college in America and Member of Congress, 1861-1863.

VI. Eleanor Calvert, daughter of the above, was born in 1754 and died September 28, 1811. She married (1) February 3, 1774, John Parke Custis, son of the late Colonel Daniel Parke Custis and his wife, Martha Dandridge, who since 1759 had been the wife of George Washington. John Parke Custis died in 1781, leaving a young widow with four children: Elizabeth Parke (1776-1832), married 1796, Thomas Law (1756-1834), son of Right Reverend Edmund Law, Bishop of Carlisle, and brother of Edward, 1st Baron Ellenborough; Martha Parke (1777-1854), married 1795, Thomas Peter; Eleanor Parke (1779-1852), married at Mt. Vernon, February 22, 1799, Lawrence Lewis, nephew of General George Washington, and had issue; and George Washington Parke (see below). Eleanor (Calvert) Custis married (2) 1783, Dr. David Stewart.

VII. George Washington Parke Custis, only son of John Parke and Eleanor (Calvert) Custis, was born April 30, 1781, and died October 10, ⁴An unconfirmed family tradition asserts that she was an illegitimate daughter of King George II, according to some, and George I, according to others.

1857. He and his sister Eleanor (the famous "Nellie" Custis) were adopted by their step-grandfather, General Washington, and spent their youth at Mt. Vernon. As a young man, George W. P. Custis settled on the Arlington estate, which his father had purchased in 1778, and where he built the imposing structure called Arlington House, now known as Lee Mansion. In 1804 he married Mary Lee Fitzhugh.

VIII. Mary Anne Randolph Custis was the only child of the above-named couple to survive infancy. She was born October 1, 1808, and died November 5, 1873. In 1831 she married Lieutenant Robert Edward Lee, United States Army, who was to achieve distinction thirty years later as the great Confederate general. They were the parents of seven children, of whom William Henry Fitzhugh Lee and Robert Edward Lee, Jr. married and had descendants.

In addition to the Calverts, Custises, Lewises, and Lees, there is another American family descended from King Charles II. The 4th Lord Baltimore and Lady Charlotte Lee, generation III, above, had a daughter, Jane Calvert, who married John Hyde, of Kingston Lisle, and had a daughter, Mary Calvert Hyde, who married George Mitchell, of Ireland. Their son, George Calvert Mitchell, settled at Royalton, N. Y., ca. 1810, and had descendants.

So much for the line of descent from King Charles II. In the following Table of Ancestors we consider the complete royal ancestry back to the sixteenth century.

1. Charles II, King of England and Scotland, etc.; b. May 29, 1630; reigned 1660-1685; d. February 6, 1684/5. Great-great-great-great-grandfather of George Washington Parke Custis.

3. Henrietta Maria, Princess of France; b. November 25, 1609; d. August 31, 1666.⁵ The Province of Maryland was named in Her Majesty's honor.

⁵Since this article was written, the author has noticed that writers differ as to the year of Queen Henrietta Maria's death, some stating that it was in 1666, and others in 1669. Francis Sandford's A Genealogical History of the Kings of England and Monarchs of Great Britain, published in (1926), XIII, 273, assigns the date August 31, 1666 (as given in the text of this article), and The Encyclopedia Americana, Victory Edition (1945), XIV, 98, gives August 31, 1669. Time has not permitted the author to reconcile these discrepancies.

⁶Princess Margaret (better known as Marguerite d'Angoulême), wife of King Henri d'Albret of Navarre, was sister of Francis I, King of France, and daughter of Charles, Count of Angoulême, by his wife, Louise, daughter of Philip II, Duke of Savoy. Philip was son of Louis, Duke of Savoy, and grandson of the widowed Amadeus VIII, Duke of Savoy, who abdicated in 1434, retired to a hermitage, and in 1439, although not in holy orders, was elected Pope as Felix V, in opposition to Eugenius IV. He renounced his claim to the pontificate in 1449, and was created a cardinal by his successful rival, Pope Nicholas V, successor of Eugenius IV. Thus, G. W. P. Custis was descended from the legitimate son of a pope (or at least an antipope)!
